These Guidelines were modeled after the U.S. Green Building Council's Green Building Rating System, Version 2.0, Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (March 2000), commonly referred to as LEED™. The Guidelines also drew heavily from the City of New York's High Performance Building Guidelines (April 1999) and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's Guidelines for Creating High-Performance Buildings (1999).

A Project Management Team organized and guided the work of the many people who helped produce these Guidelines. This team consisted of Project Manager Judy Kincaid, J.D., Solid Waste/Materials Resources Program Manager, Triangle J Council of Governments, and Project Lead Architects Gail Lindsey, AIA, Principal, Design Harmony, Inc., and Jon Weiss, AIA, Architect, Heery International, Inc..

Over 50 professionals joined workgroups during the summer of 2000 to draft specific provisions for the Guidelines and identify case studies and resources. The following people, whose affiliations are provided for purposes of identification only, were members of these workgroups:
